

ABSTRACT

A tampon applicator including an insertion member adapted to house an absorbent tampon and receive a plunger. The insertion member has an outer surface and a fingergrasp region disposed about the outer surface. The fingergrasp region includes an indentation region having a depth dimension X. The indentation region includes raised portions has a height dimension Y, the height dimension Y being less than or equal to the depth dimension X.